Event Regulations

South Bavaria Record and CD Fair

Rules for Exhibitors and Sellers

By participating in the Record and CD Fair, all exhibitors and sellers agree to be bound by the following event regulations.

1. Setup and Dismantling

Exhibitors may set up their sales stands exclusively during the designated setup times. Exhibitors must remain within their assigned space. Escape routes, emergency exits, entrances, passageways, and other circulation areas must be kept clear at all times.
Dismantling of sales stands may only begin after the official end of the event, unless otherwise instructed by the organizer.

2. Merchandise

Only legally acquired goods permitted for sale may be offered. The sale of illegal, counterfeit, or stolen items, as well as items that are harmful to minors or otherwise prohibited, is strictly forbidden.
The organizer reserves the right to exclude prohibited items from sale and to demand their removal from the stand.

3. Music Playback

The playing of music, sound recordings, or any other audio content is strictly prohibited during the event.

4. Conduct at the Event

All exhibitors and vendors agree to interact respectfully with visitors, other exhibitors, the event organizer, and the organizer's staff/assistants.
Harassment, discriminatory behavior, aggressive confrontations, and any actions that disrupt the event are strictly prohibited.
Instructions given by the event organizer or their authorized representatives must be followed.

5. Cleanliness and Order

Exhibition spaces and all other areas used during the event must be kept clean and tidy. Packaging materials, waste, and any other debris must be disposed of properly by the exhibitors themselves.
Upon the conclusion of the event, the exhibition space must be returned in the same condition in which it was received.

6. Damage and Liability

Exhibitors and vendors are liable for any damage caused by themselves, their staff, accompanying persons, their goods, or their booth structures.
Any damage caused to buildings, furniture, equipment, or other property must be reported to the event organizer immediately. The party responsible for the damage is obligated to rectify it or cover the costs of repair.
To the extent permitted by law, the event organizer assumes no liability for damage to goods, sales booths, equipment, or other property brought by exhibitors, nor for any loss or theft. Exhibitors are solely responsible for securing their own goods and property.

7. Exclusion from the Event

In the event of a violation of the event rules, the organizer may issue a warning, require the removal of specific goods, or exclude the exhibitor from the event.
Exclusion may occur, in particular, in cases of serious or repeated violations. In such instances, there shall be no entitlement to a refund of any booth fees already paid, to the extent permitted by law.

8. Final Provisions

The organizer reserves the right to supplement or amend the event regulations as necessary to ensure the proper and safe conduct of the event.
By registering for or participating in the event, the exhibitor confirms that they have read, understood, and accepted these event regulations.
